

A Guest Sermon by Mike Little

March 24, 2019

The Third Sunday in Lent

Mike Little, the Director of the Faith and Money Network, reminded us that Jesus spoke about money and economic conditions more than any other subject. Mike cautioned us not to become assimilated to the consumer culture around us and offered three practices to help us in that task. By becoming accountable in authentic relationships, befriending people who are unlike us, and spending time every day in prayer, we can maintain our distinctiveness as followers of Jesus.

More about Mike's work at the Faith and Money Network is available at <http://www.faithandmoneynetwork.org/>.

The text of this sermon is not available.