

E. Vail, Kathryn Tobias and Joan M. Dodge: Growing Edges

April 29, 2001

I have just spent this past week studying micro enterprise development with practitioners in the field at the Brookings Institution. I am not sure where that journey will take me, but I believe that what matters is to keep putting one foot in front of the other – and sometimes taking a wild leap on the journey of faith. Having many partners helps too.