

Poet – Katie Fisher

Katie Fisher

Seekers Poet

Katie reflects on writing poetry

Any little fragment can evoke a feeling that wants exploration: the scent of a passing doe, an owl who barks like a dog, an old photograph of a man in spats. Then comes the wrestling with words that, always imperfectly, finally shape the feeling into something that looks like a poem. It's very physical.

Katie's poems in the Seekers collection:

"Countdown"

"Grandmother's Veil"

"Exotic Species"