Poetry Night

Led by John Morris

Poetry fills me with joy and I rise like a feather in the wind.
Poetry fills me with sorrow and I sink like a chain flung from a bridge.

But mostly poetry fills me with the urge to write poetry.

From Billy Collins, The Trouble with Poetry

Poet John Morris will lead us in an occasional night of poetry. Bring 10 copies of a poem you have written or that someone else has written. During our time together each of us will read our poems and share why and how they speak to us. We'll explore together the images and structure of the poems and their potential meanings.
